

A group of approximately 12 children of various ages are on a stage. They are all wearing red long-sleeved shirts with a black star pattern and blue jeans. They are holding up a large, green, paper-cut Christmas tree that has a wooden handle. The tree is made of many small green squares. The children are in various poses, some standing, some kneeling, and some sitting on the floor. The background is dark with some stars and a small yellow figure in the top right corner.
